Supplemental Airlines To Fly Struck Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board, moving to ease monumental air traffic jams across the nation, has authorized 13 supplemental airlines to fly nearly 100 routes of the five struck carriers.

The CAB's action Friday night came as union and management negotiators were reported to be no nearer a settlement than they were a week ago. They meet again today.

A CAB spokesman said the supplemental—those airlines that usually fly charter and non-scheduled flights—will begin accepting reservations immediately for most of the nation's heavily traveled major air routes, including coast to coast flights.

10-Day Permit

The CAB specifically granted the supplemental airlines authority to handle those flights for the next 30 days that are not now being handled by the non-scheduled airlines. It reserved, however, the right to amend or cancel the authority without a hearing.

The walkout by more than 35,000 machinists—members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists—began July 8 at Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United Airlines.

Last weekend the CAB had given the scheduled airlines not affected by the strike authority to add as many flights as possible to help the flying public. The strike came in the midst of the heavy tourist season.

"But this was not found to be enough," a spokesman said Friday night. "Especially in areas not served by these airlines."

"What we're doing now," he added, "is trying to get more capacity. We're not in any way involved in the strike proceedings."

The pessimistic report on the strike talk proceedings came from Asst. Secretary of Labor

James J. Reynolds, who is presiding over the negotiations.

Reynolds said "We are no nearer a settlement today than we were, really, a week ago."

He characterized the latest talks as "another day of futile rather than constructive discussions" and told newsmen he had asked the negotiators to return today with "some new approaches to the problem."

Atomic Era 21 Years Old

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The atomic age was born 21 years ago today with the first detonation of an atomic bomb in a secluded desert area near Alamogordo.

The July 16, 1945, explosion was equal to 20,000 tons of high explosive. The bomb was detonated on a tower at 5:30 a.m. Mountain War Time.

The blast was seen and felt by many residents of south-central New Mexico, but the military answered queries by saying an ammunition dump had exploded.

The truth came out after an atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945.

Trinity site, where the first bomb was detonated, is now a part of White Sands Missile Range and is closed to the public.

French Teacher Bears Quadruplets

AGEN, France (AP) — Mrs. Bernard Sapparat, 31-year-old schoolteacher in nearby Madailan, gave birth Friday to quadruplets in Agen Hospital, and all were reported doing well today.

The three boys and a girl, who have been named Guillaume, Laurent, Pascal, and Maite, were born about two months prematurely.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The average glamor girl weighs 121, is 5-foot-6, has a 35½-inch bust, 23½-inch waist and 36-inch hips.

That is the tale of the tape among shapely beauties from 58 nations competing for the Miss Universe crown tonight.

Miss Holland and Miss Okinawa came closest to the average. Margo Domica of Den Haas, Holland, is a half-inch shorter and her hips measure a half-inch less. Yoneko Kiyan of

Detectives Pursue Leads

Police Sketch Murderer

CHICAGO (AP) — An artist's sketch of the killer who slaughtered eight student nurses has brought a flood of new leads and a burst of new confidence to detectives determined to hunt the man down.

"We've been inundated with phone calls, tips and leads since we added the sketch to our description," said Michael Spiotto, deputy chief of detectives.

A police artist sketched the killer's face after closely questioning the only survivor of the town house massacre, who roused from heavy sedation Friday after the long night of horror.

Police Confident

Spiotto said the two-hour interview was eminently fruitful.

"Number one, we're confident we're going to get this guy," he said. "Number two, we know the girl can identify him."

The girl, Corazon Amurao, 23, filled in details missing from her first, hysterical account blurted out to police when she finally fled the blood-splattered house of death Thursday at dawn.

At least one mystery remained, however, and police shed no new light on it after the interview with Miss Amurao.

Why were there no loud screams, no outcries for help, during the time the killer bound and gagged the nine girls, herded them into a back room, and led eight of them out one at a time to their deaths?

"There were some light outcries by the girls who came in late, but it wasn't much," Spiotto said Miss Amurao told him.

Victims Not Drugged

An autopsy report showed the girls had not been drugged to prevent screams. Three of them arrived home after the killing had already gathered the other six into the rear room.

Spiotto said he believed the killer was no stranger to the area of the town house, which served as a dormitory for the student nurses in training at a hospital about a mile away.

Miss Amurao told police she never had seen the man before.

The autopsy report produced no evidence any of the victims had been molested sexually, according to Coroner Andrew J. Toman. He said laboratory tests for conclusive findings would be available Wednesday.

All the same, police showed Miss Amurao photographs of about 200 sex offenders. She did not identify any of them, Spiotto said, but he added, "There are a few individuals we are very much interested in — some more than others."

Days Off Cancelled

The sketch drawn from Miss Amurao's description shows a crew-cut young man with high cheekbones, aquiline nose, jutting chin, narrow-set eyes beneath brows of medium thickness, and thin lips. She said he definitely was a white man and that his hair was "somewhere between blond and black."

Spiotto said the sketch had triggered scores of leads.

He said his staff of 40, working around the clock with days off cancelled, plus 40 more detectives from other departments, were checking out more than 100 tips. Many were from other parts of the country.

Spiotto worked without sleep from 6:30 a.m. Thursday until 11 p.m. Friday — leaving work to be called at home if there was an important development.

Detectives had picked up about 50 suspects for questioning. None panned out.

Laboratory technicians were checking about 100 fingerprints lifted from the town house. They had to be sorted from the victim's.

Armed Guardsmen Halt Chicago Riots

CHICAGO (AP) — Flying squads of impressively armed National Guardsmen and police restored relative peace today to the scarred streets of a West Side area ripped since Tuesday by racial violence.

Youthful gangs who had looted, burned and fired sniper-style from rooftops faded away Friday night as guardsmen — told to shoot to kill if fired upon — went on patrol.

Through the streets of a 140-square-block area rolled trucks loaded with soldiers, rifles at the ready, bayonets fixed; jeeps with machine guns mounted; police cars with shot-guns poked out windows.

Knots of Negroes lined curbs in some areas, catcalling occasionally, but there were only scattered incidents: one reported sniper shooting, with police returning fire but finding no one; a fire bomb thrown into a street outside a home; a few store windows broken; several fires in houses and stores.

Streets deserted

By midnight, police reported, streets were virtually deserted. The calm contrasted dramatically with Thursday night, when an estimated 5,000 were abroad. Then, two Negroes were killed by gunshot and 30 were injured amid widespread shooting, looting and burning that continued into the day Friday.

Gov. Otto Kerner called up the Guard, 3,000 strong, Friday at the request of Mayor Richard J. Daley. The mayor said he felt police alone could not cope with the rioting, worst in the North since 34 were killed in massive rioting in Los Angeles last August.

Major Gen. Francis P. Kane held 1,500 troops in reserve and sent 1,500 into action, operating from a base in a parking lot.

They teamed with 1,000 police.

"If anybody shoots at my men," Gen. Kane told newsmen, "my orders are to shoot back — shoot to kill."

The word must have gotten around. Newsmen interviewing Negroes on the streets reported an attitude of fear among many — especially of the guardsmen. There was much comment about weapons.

Guard Feared

And there were some who said the Guard will leave, sooner or later, and trouble will come anew.

"We can't cope with the stuff they got on those Guard trucks," a youth told a newsmen, "but we can cope with the police. As soon as those GIs go back, these cops are gonna make a mistake."

"We all gotta die some time, we'll fight," said another.

The trouble began Tuesday night when police turned off a fire hydrant spraying kids with water during a hot spell. A crowd gathered. Rocks flew. Violence began. There was more Wednesday night. Then the climax Thursday night and Friday during the day, with police reporting at one point they were unable to control the mobs.

Mayor Daley said that he blames the outbreak "in large measure" on aides of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. King and his staff have been conducting a civil rights drive in Chicago.

Daley Blames King

Said Daley: "Surely some of the people that came in here have been talking for the last year of violence, and showing pictures and instructing people in how to conduct violence. They're on his (King's) staff."

Threatens Shift In War Conduct

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman publicly warned Hanoi today that mistreatment of U.S. captives will "change the whole feeling of the war."

Harriman's statement came on the heels of a warning from Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., that if Hanoi carried out its threat to execute U.S. airmen "the American people will demand the complete destruction of North Viet Nam."

In the strongest words yet issued by a Washington official concerning Red threats to try American prisoners as war criminals, Harriman said:

"North Viet Nam still indicates that they believe the United States will give up, just as France did years ago, if they hold out."

If there is anything that will rile the American people, just let them mistreat our airmen, he said.

"So far there has been no bitterness on the part of the American government or the American people against the people of North Viet Nam. But this barbaric act would heighten the temporal feeling and can only react against the interests of the North Vietnamese."

Harriman, speaking in a Voice of America radio interview, noted that President Johnson had offered to let Hanoi participate in Southeast Asian economic development after peace comes to Viet Nam, and promised the United States would contribute $1 billion or more.

But mistreatment of U.S. prisoners, he said, "would have a great effect against any future relations between our two countries on the kind of live-and-let-live basis we hope would come about."

Harriman also reported that efforts to exchange a captured Viet Cong terrorist for a U.S. civilian prisoner held by the guerrillas in South Viet Nam had fallen through. Viet Cong representatives in Algiers had at one point indicated they would undertake such an exchange, he said.

On other points Harriman said the North Vietnamese have refused to give any information about the number of names of the U.S. fliers imprisoned, believed to total 34 or more. Nor have they allowed the International Red Cross Committee access to the captives.

He added that Hanoi has refused to accept the International Red Cross Committee, headquartered in Geneva, as a protecting power.

Aiken, who has criticized acceleration of the war, thus put into blunter words the carefully phrased warning of 18 self-styled Democratic "Joves" Friday that such action by Hanoi "would provoke the greatest reprisals and further blacken the hope for peace."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who endorsed the statement by the 18, agreed generally with Aiken's appraisal of prospective public demands for retaliation.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a speech Friday at Fort Worth, Tex., also warned that the staging of trials would "set loose emotions very hard to control in this country."

"I can't think of anything that would be more dangerous than such a step," Humphrey told a news conference before making a speech at Texas Christian University.

"If the people in Hanoi have any sense at all," the vice president said, "I would think they would be very hesitant to take that step."

The area into which guardsmen rolled lies 4 miles west of the Loop business district — a rectangle 28 blocks long. It includes ramshackle slums, high rise public housing, and such bases as the big new West Side Medical Center and the new University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus.

Most businesses in the area were shut down when the Guard came in. White shop owners boarded windows. Negro merchants, hoping to avoid looting or burning, posted signs saying "Soul Brother" or "Owned by Your Brother."

North Viet Strikes Reach Record High

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Wave after wave of U.S. planes pounded North Viet Nam Friday with a record 121 missions. They struck at three oil depots to keep up the intensified drive against the Hanoi government's fuel reserves and also attacked six missile sites.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Ranger evaded 10 Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles fired from a string of sites seven to 45 miles southeast of Hanoi.

In an attack on one of the sites, a Navy A4 Skyhawk jet was shot down by anti-aircraft fire. U.S. military headquarters said the pilot bailed out but heavy flak prevented rescue helicopters from reaching him.

and he is listed as missing. Loss of the plane had been disclosed earlier.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported heavy losses to a 100-man company of government troops when they were hit by a "maneuvering ambush" of five times as many Viet Cong main force soldiers.

A Vietnamese spokesman said the company was hit Friday on Highway 13 — a favorite Viet Cong ambush route — at a point 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

The company had been assigned to provide security for a military supply convoy. After the last truck passed the company's area, the spokesman said, a Viet Cong force estimated at a reinforced battalion struck from both sides of the road.

Unofficial reports said most of the company was killed or wounded.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, both the U. S. and Vietnamese commands reported only small-scale fighting Friday.

Soldier Hitches Ride With Veep

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An extra passenger was along Friday night when Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey took off for Minneapolis from Carswell Air Force Base.

After learning he could not catch a commercial flight to his home in Shawano, Wis., Pfc. Thomas Patrick of Ft. Wolters, Tex., went to Carswell searching for a ride.

The vice president said Patrick could ride with him.

Paper Mill Still Operating:

Electricians Strike Mead

Escanaba Division of Mead Corp. had its first labor trouble today since the 1920s. The big pulp and paper mill at Groos is operating, but its Electricians Union members are out.

Division Manager George S. Douglas announced late Friday that negotiations for a new labor contract to replace that expired May 31 with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 979, had failed to produce a labor agreement on Wednesday, July 13. Local 979 served notice on the company that it was terminating its contract as of yesterday, and the electricians walked out and set up pickets at the Groos mill.

Local 979 had 31 employees out of the 600 employed at the Mead plant here.

Operations Continue
Douglas said that the Escanaba Division would continue to operate on a normal schedule since the remaining employees are covered by labor agreements currently in force.

Local 209 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers and Local 110 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers constitute the main work force and while their contracts expired on May 31 they have continued their negotiations with the company for new contracts and have negotiating sessions with the company scheduled next week. Union officials indicated that not all their workers were crossing picket lines.

The issues separating the company and the Electrical Workers were described by the company as "economic" wages and Douglas said that no future meetings between the company and the Electrical Workers are scheduled at this time.

Meeting Sunday
Local 209 of the Papermakers and Paperworkers advertised today a notice to its membership of a special meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Oddfellow's Hall in Escanaba "for the purpose of taking a strike vote." The procedure is a customary step in such situations. With the walkout of the Electrical Workers, Mead closed the water-driven electric generators at its Boney Falls hydro-electric plant on the Escanaba River late yesterday and drew down the pond there, as the attendants had left the plant.

Leading Industry
The result flush of water in the river caused minor damage to a pipe pile and timber dock at the cottage of William Karas and his boat was released but recovered.

Conservation officers said that the river has been abnormally low because of drought and that the release of the water caused a maximum rise of about three feet in the water level of the stream, which was mostly intercepted by No. 3 dam.

Escanaba Division of Mead Corp. is one of the Delta Area's major industries and its largest taxpayer. It manufactures groundwood pulp and fine papers and its stability and growth have been among the strongest underpinnings of the area's economy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Interior subcommittee approved Thursday a Senate-passed bill to establish the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in western Michigan. The subcommittee also approved a bill by Rep. Raymond F. Cleveland, D-Mich., to create a Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore in Michigan's Upper Peninsula on Lake Superior. The Senate Interior committee hasn't yet considered that proposal.

The Pictured Rocks bill provides that the park would be divided into two zones. One, a 27,500-acre inner zone bordering Lake Superior, would be bought outright by the U. S. Parks Service and developed for recreational use. A 32-mile scenic highway would run the length of this zone.

The outer zone would be a 39,500-acre buffer belt on the inland side of the park. It would remain in private hands, but would be used for sustained yield timbering.

Lansing Employees Vote To Strike

LANSING (AP) — A city employees union Friday night voted to go on strike Sunday night in face of a threat that all strikers would be fired from their jobs. Mayor Max Murnighan said immediately after the union action that he would seek a meeting with the union Sunday in hopes of warding off a strike.

Water Deaths Rise In State

EAST LANSING (AP) — The heat wave has contributed to a sharp increase in the number of water deaths this year, State Police report.

Figures showed Friday that 182 persons have died in 277 water accidents this year. This compares with 136 deaths in 218 accidents on July 15 last year. At least 71 persons have been injured so far this year.

Almost 50 of this year's water deaths came on the last weekend in June and over the July 4 holiday period—two hot weekends.

Reports show victims this year included 53 swimmers or waders, 29 who fell from bridges, docks, banks or piers, 19 boat operators, 11 boat passengers, 16 who fell through ice, one who fell into a tank and one who attempted a rescue.

Question Five Youths For Vandalism Spree

By CLINT DUNATHAN
Escanaba police put a big "Why?" at the end of their interrogation today of five youths suspected of a rock-throwing rampage that caused thousands of dollars of glass damage in the area last night.

Windows and windshields in about 35 automobiles and two stores were smashed by rocks. "Why would anybody want to do a thing like that?" said Capt. Joseph Corcoran, shaking his head.

Plate glass windows in Nelson's Cash Store, 1329 Sheridan Road, and Norm's IGA Store, 1130 Stephenson Ave., were broken, and much of the damage to automobiles also occurred in that area.

H. George Nelson, Escanaba city councilman, is the proprietor of the Nelson store, and Norm Dahlke is proprietor of the IGA Store.

Car Described
The first report of glass breakage came to police at 3 a.m. today when Mark Mortier, 909 Delta Ave., Gladstone, notified police that the window of his car parked in the 1300 block, Stephenson Ave., was smashed.

Investigation disclosed other damage and a flood of complaints came pouring into the police station during the morning hours when car owners discovered the breakage. Sprinkled in with some of the reports were brief descriptions of a noisy, speeding car that fled the neighborhoods where damage had occurred.

At 10:15 a.m. today a car that police said appeared to fit the description was halted by police in the 800 block, Ludington St.

There were five young men in the car. They were taken to the police station for questioning as suspects.

Romney Trims Stack Of Bills

LANSING (AP) — The pile of bills awaiting Gov. George Romney's decision dwindled to 19 today after a week in which he approved or vetoed 114 measures.

Signing and veto messages poured in a steady stream from the governor's office until he left Friday to attend the National Cherry Festival at Traverse City.

So far this year, Romney has allowed 312 public acts and one local act to become law and vetoed 14 bills.

Bills still awaiting his decision include measures dealing with conflict of interest on the part of legislators, implementation of medicare, and tuition grants for students at private colleges and universities.

The tuition grant bill provides $3.5 million for grants of up to $500 a year per student, depending on need.

Also awaiting action are a measure to give county probate judges a pay raise—and have the state pay half their salary, a one-cent-a-gallon cut in the beer tax, and a $1 boost in driver's license fees to pay for stepped up public school driver education programs.

The executive office said decisions on most of the 19 bills would be announced Tuesday.

— were turned over to Juvenile Court Officer Lyle LeCaptain.

The names were withheld and no formal complaint had been made before noon today.

Besides the report from Mortier, the list of complaints of auto glass breakage included:

John Dulek, 413 S. 23rd St.; Wayne LaCrosse, 615 S. 20th St.; Francis Grenier, 2101 8th Ave. S.; Donald Chamberlain, 709 5th Ave. S.; Frank Miketina, 1514 S. 14th St.; Edward Gouin, 1921 9th Ave. N.; Edward Destramp, 615 N. 16th St.; Mrs. Henry King, 636 N. 20th St.; Marcel Guindon, 1110 3rd Ave. S.; Gay Curtin, 1526 S. 14th St.; Mrs. James Peoples, 636 N. 18th St.; Joseph Hainault, 705 S. 20th St.; Harold and Daniel Villeneuve, 1108 S. 14th St., two cars; Francis Lewis, 1125 Stephenson Ave.

Many More

There was an additional 19 or 20 complaints of car damage in which the names were not listed by officers. More reports of damage continued to be received throughout the morning.

From Wells Mrs. Jesse Bingham reported to Sheriff Cully Johnson that a window in the Bingham car was broken.

Holy Name High School, where there has been vandalism over the past several weeks, was not molested last night. A rock was thrown through the boiler-room window the night before, and there has been other serious damage, it was reported.

In efforts to halt the vandalism, the city placed a light on a pole in the rear of the building.

Power Out

COLDWATER (AP) — Electrical power was knocked out for 50 minutes Friday to a three-square-mile area south of Coldwater when a construction crane hit a high-tension Consumers Power Co. line. Nobody was injured. Among businesses whose power failed was radio station WTVB which kept on the air through use of an emergency diesel generator.

Big Mac Cuts Pickup Tolls

ST. IGNACE — A reduction in rates for one major class of vehicles crossing over the Mackinac Bridge was announced today by Prentiss M. Brown, Bridge Authority chairman.

This is the first reduction in tolls since the bridge opened on Nov. 1, 1957. It will cut the toll on four-wheel two-axle trucks, mostly pickups, from $5 to $4.25 effective Aug. 1, 1966. There were two across-the-board increases in early 1961.

"We are pleased to be in a financial position to reduce the toll on pickup trucks so that we can be more consistent with other toll facilities, including the Soo Bridge, and the vehicle registration practices of the Secretary of State's office," said Brown.

Brown stated that he and Representatives Einar Erlandson (D) Escanaba and Clayton Morrison (R) Pickford had been discussing the inconsistency in the pickup toll for some time and that Erlandson had written to him last May saying:

"It appears that there has been a significant change in the use of pickup trucks as passenger vehicles. In 1953 and prior years perhaps 80 per cent of the pickup trucks crossing the Straits were commercial in nature. Today 90 per cent or better appear to be totally recreational vehicles."

"These conclusions," said Brown, "are borne out by our surveys of bridge usage particularly in the phenomenal growth of campers mounted on pickup trucks. These are licensed as house-cars by the Secretary of State and pay the passenger car license fee."

"The Authority, under the provision of the trust indenture could not reduce the pickup-truck rate to the passenger car toll, $3.75, but could cut it to the toll originally established for pickup trucks in 1957. This will bring it more in line with the Soo Bridge and hopefully stimulate further bridge crossings by camper and house-car units, also included in the reduction which will become effective midnight Aug. 1," said Brown.

Gemini Launch Outlook Brightens

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the weather outlook brightening for their scheduled Monday blastoff, the Gemini 10 astronauts today brushed up on the complex flight plan for their three-day space adventure.

The schedule called for Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins to take the day off. However, space agency officials said the astronauts would spend considerable time in their quarters reviewing the jam-packed flight plan.

After concern about tropical storm Celia Friday, weather experts said prospects had improved considerably. The storm's peak winds dropped from 50 to 30 miles an hour.

On the present course, weather experts said the remnants of Celia should pass over the Key West, Fla., area Monday.

Oxford Planning Munising Mill 1969 Operations

If the Oxford Paper Co. builds its proposed $100 million pulp and paper mill in the Munising area, it will rely heavily on small private woodlot owners to provide much of its raw material.

Fred A. Clough Jr., director of public relations for Oxford, and Walter J. Campbell, manager of industrial relations, both of New York City, told the Marquette Mining Journal that Oxford's largest mill, in Rumford, Maine, obtains 90 per cent of its wood from farmers and small private land owners.

They said the Upper Peninsula closely resembles Maine in forest tree species and that the company would expect to obtain much of its wood from small land owners within a 40 or 50-mile radius of Munising. Oxford has an agreement with Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. to obtain a substantial amount of its wood requirements from that firm. Cliffs has approximately 340,000 acres of both hardwood and softwood forest lands in the Upper Peninsula. It draws on some of this to supply timber for its Forest Center Sawmill east of Shingleton.

Gov't Forest Wood
Oxford also might rely on national and state forest holdings for some of its wood needs, the officials said.

Clough and Campbell said during a visit to Marquette that the Oxford mill would use all wood species except cedar, which is one of the Upper Peninsula's surplus species. Most of the paper it would produce at the Munising area mill would be used by National Geographic Magazine.

Clough and Campbell said their company has a target date of mid-1969 for placing the Munising mill in operation. The mill's initial work force would consist of 350 hourly employees and 100 salaried employees. Not included in this figure would be persons privately engaged in logging to supply the mill needs.

Three years after the start of production, plans call for installation of a second paper-making machine at the mill. Oxford's Rumford mill operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 361 days a year. It is shut down only on July 4, Labor Day, Christmas and New Year's Day. Workers there average 50 hours a week.

In addition to its Rumford mill, Oxford has two subsidiaries, Oxford Miami Paper Co. in Ohio and Nashua Paper Co. in Massachusetts.

Clough and Campbell said Oxford still is conducting surveys in the Munising area to collect data relating to the mill project. They said no specific site has been selected yet for the mill.

No further action on the mill project is expected until the Michigan Supreme Court rules on the constitutionality of Michigan's Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act. The decision may come this month.

Oxford is counting on industrial revenue bond financing of approximately $70 million in the first phase of its proposed project.

Boy, Mother Found Dead

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A boy and his stepmother were found dead of undetermined causes in a bedroom of their Kalamazoo Township home Friday night.

Police identified the victims as Ronald Smith, 14, and Mrs. Emily Cain Smith, 26. An investigation continues. The father, Carlton Smith, found the bodies.

Delta Shore May Hold Key To Griffin

Discoveries along the Lake Michigan shore of Delta County may be the key to unlock the mystery that surrounds the fate of the Griffin, first European trade ship on the Great Lakes.

This is the informed and educated opinion voiced by George Irving Quimby, one of America's leading anthropologists, in his new book "Indian Culture and European Trade Goods," published by the University of Wisconsin Press.

Quimby has visited the Delta-Schoolcraft counties area many times in his researches, walking hundreds of miles along the Lake Michigan shore. He has a personal knowledge of the islands off the Garden Peninsula, where he believes the Griffin loaded furs 287 years ago.

Unsolved Mystery
The story of the Griffin is intriguing as an unsolved mystery and as a unique vignette in the annals of the historic period of the Great Lakes," Quimby writes. The construction of the Griffin above Niagara Falls in 1679 was part of a trading venture sponsored by Sieur de la Salle, French explorer authorized to conduct trade with the Indians in the old Northwest.

Quimby's reconstruction places the Griffin among the smaller vessels — perhaps 35 feet long, 16-18 feet wide and with a draught of four or five feet. She carried five small cannon and two anchors.

The Griffin sailed from above Niagara through Lakes Erie and Huron, halted at St. Ignace, and then continued on to what Quimby believes to be a small bay on Big Summer Island, perhaps three miles from the present Fairport, a fishing village at the tip of the Garden Peninsula in Delta County.

At Summer Island
"Summer Island could have been the Green Bay terminus of the voyage of the Griffin, and it is my first choice in this reconstruction of history," Quimby writes.

Furs were loaded there and the Griffin's crew prepared to sail. LaCalle and his party continued on by canoe to the Mississippi River.

The Griffin sailed on Sept. 18, 1679. She disappeared and was never seen again.

"If I were to search for possible remains of the Griffin, I would first look beneath the coastal waters of Delta and Schoolcraft counties in Michigan between Point Detour and Seul Choix Point, particularly around Point Aux Barques and the site of the old settlement at Saul Choix," declares Quimby. "I would next check the coastal waters eastward as far as Epoufette in Mackinac County, and finally, I would search all of the shoals in the Beaver Island Archipelago," he concludes.

Dating Method
His chapter on the Griffin, first European trade ship in the New World, is but one small part of work that sheds scholarly and imaginative light on a fascinating subject.

His findings are presented chronologically and factually, revealing how trade objects received from the white men, associated with Indian artifacts can be used in dating archaeological sites of the historic period.

There are many references to areas, localities and sites in Delta and neighboring counties once occupied by the Indians.

"Among the institutions which graciously permitted me to study their collections were the Delta County Historical Museum, Escanaba," and others, Quimby reports in his preface.

Distinguished in his field, Quimby was for many years Curator of Archaeology and Ethnology, Chicago Natural History Museum, and is now Professor of Anthropology and Curator at the Burke Museum, University of Washington.

Mrs. H. A. Mills Taken By Death

Mrs. Hildur A. Mills of 517 1st Ave. S., Escanaba, died early Friday morning at St. Francis Hospital where she had been a patient for eight hours. She was born Nov. 15, 1906 in Manistique and had lived in the Escanaba area for 31 years. She was formerly an elementary grade school teacher in Lower Michigan.

Surviving are her husband, Samuel, two sons, Sam of Chicago and John of Manitowish and one granddaughter.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Sunday and complete funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the Anderson Funeral Home Chapel. Rev. David Brostrom of the Calvary Baptist Church will officiate and burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Charles Watson Of Gulliver Dies In Illinois

Charles Watson, 70, of Gulliver, died Friday in Worth, Ill., while visiting his son, Gerald. Born Sept. 9, 1895, he was a retired farmer and a life long resident of Schoolcraft County.

He is survived by his widow, Opal and the following children, Mrs. Vertal Schnurer, Charles F. Watson, Mrs. Icie MacGregor, Mrs. Nettie Backman, Mrs. Agnes McGahan, Gerald, Arthur and Daniel Watson; two brothers, John and Wilfred; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Barlow; his stepmother, Mrs. Ada Watson, 20 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Kefauver and Jackson Funeral Home from 2 until 9:30 p.m. Monday and funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Peninsula Potpourri

HANCOCK — Thomas LaBine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest LaBine of Bergland, won the 11th annual Upper Peninsula Soap Box Derby and will represent the U.P. in the Soap Box Derby of America at Akron, Ohio, this summer. Runner-up was Iver Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, Hancock.

SAULT STE. MARIE — Ground was broken for the new Sault Plaza Shopping Center with the first of two construction phases expected complete by Christmas. Tenants in the first phase include a department store, drug store, radio and television service and a supermarket. Construction of the second phase will begin next year and will add an additional four stores, several offices and a laundromat.

MUNISING — School district voters will consider again Aug. 2 a proposal asking a total of 10 mills for operating expenses, five mills new and five renewal, for five years. The Board of Education pointed out the district finished fiscal 1965-66 with a deficit of $25,094 and coupled with a previous deficit of about $18,000 left the district $43,000 in the red.

MARQUETTE — Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) said he could see no chance to override Gov. George Romney's veto of a $370,000 appropriation to match a $369,000 federal grant to construct a sanitary sewer for Northern Michigan University.

Briefly Told

The letter to the editor on the stock car races recently were contributed by Bill Schoen of Hermansville, not by Bill Schoen of Bark River.

The Teen-Age dances sponsored by the Escanaba Recreation Department which were formerly held on Tuesday evenings have been switched to Monday evenings. The dances will continue to be held from 8 to 10 p.m. near the Ludington Park Tennis Courts, but to avoid conflicts with other activities, they will now be held on Monday nights.

Virgil Sanvona, 51, of Chicago, became ill while hitchhiking on U.S. 2-41 near the Escanaba River Friday evening and was found lying in the ditch by motorists. He was removed to St. Francis Hospital by ambulance and his condition today is satisfactory, reports Sheriff Cully Johnson.

Hybrid Muskies Planted In Gulliver

Approximately 2,000 muskellunge, 4 to 5 inches in length, have been released in Moraine Lake and in Moosehead Lake each in Gogebic County according to the Michigan Department of Conservation. The fish were from the Harrietta State Fish Hatchery in Lower Michigan.

Two hundred hybrid northern pike - muskellunge - 4 to 5 inches in length, were released in Gulliver Lake, Mackinac County.

New Houghton Marina Opens

RIPLEY (AP) — The Houghton County Marina was opened unofficially to Great Lakes craft Thursday.

Because of crowded port conditions in Hancock and Houghton, the $150,000 marine permitted three yachts from Superior, Wis., and Duluth, Minn., to enter the slips. The slips have room for 40 boats.

The location is immediately east of the Portage Lake lift bridge. Official dedication is set for Aug. 15.

DRINKING DIFFICULTY
Weightlessness, such as prevails in a space capsule in orbit, renders it difficult for astronauts to pour or drink liquids from an open vessel, so they must be squeezed out of tubes. Otherwise, they would form globules and float around the space capsule.

NOTICE OF BID

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission will accept bids from trucking contractors with van-type trucks capable of handling up to 35,000 cases a week for delivery of alcoholic liquor from its wholesale store at 2251 Dix, Lincoln Park, Michigan, to liquor licensees in the greater Detroit area for a period of two years beginning on or about January 1, 1967, in accordance with specifications obtainable on request from the office of the Commission, 506 S. Hosmer Street, Lansing, Mich. 48904. Bids must be for the entire operation. Bids will be opened at 10:30 A. M., Wednesday, September 14, 1966.

A Herd Of Buffalo Was Like Money In The Bank To The Indians...

To the Indians of the Old West, a herd of buffalo brought provisions for the present... meat and hides for food and clothing to take care of immediate needs. And for those Indians who planned wisely, the buffalo meant "money in the bank" for the future, too. A stock of surplus hides was precious... a means of "buying", from other tribes, more of the things that make life better.

Are things different now? Not so very! True, you use money, not hides, to buy the things you want today... but, for your future, you need money in the bank, too. Which prompts us to ask: What are you doing with your extra "buffalo hides"? Set aside some money every payday, in an interest-bearing Savings Account here... and soon, you'll have more of the things that make life better

County Home Rule

Governor Romney has signed into law a county home rule bill which has been long sought by promoters of progressive government in Michigan. It is not a good bill. It falls far short of what should be permitted in the way of county self-determination about forms of local government, but Governor Romney reasoned that maybe it's better than nothing and that it can be a start on effective county home rule.

There are several impediments to effective county home rule in Michigan. One of them is the great disparity in population between counties like Wayne, with more than a million residents, and Keweenaw with fewer than 3,000. Such differences automatically create different types of local government and the big counties use their delegate strength in the Legislature to pressure for the kind of county home rule that they like.

This usually means preservation of the existing situation, because the office holders are active in protecting themselves politically and the public is apathetic or otherwise ineffective in expressing its needs politically.

In outstate Michigan home rule is urged by the starry-eyed political do-gooders and fought tooth-and-tail by the county officers, who see it as a threat to their future in office. They're right about that as one of the aims of county home rule is to reform local government and that reform would probably do away with the election of clerical officials like the county treasurer, county register of deeds and perhaps the county clerk, unless the latter office were converted into a county manager type of office.

There is no more reason for electing these county officers than there is for blue pigs. It is suggested that voting them in and out of office gives the people control, but it is the phonest sort of argument. The people have very little control over county government, so little that it has been described as the most headless of all our governmental structures. The county board of supervisors is in theoretical control but the county officers act with great autonomy except for the budgeting and appropriation process and they're apt to influence the board more than it influences them even in this matter.

But the essence of the home rule issue is not the survival or erasure of county offices as now constituted. It is the question whether the people are to be permitted to change local government to conform to new conditions and new needs. Michigan's county government was organized for the horse-and-buggy era in which it was created and it's the devil's own job to change it to fit this current age of the automobile and airplane, much less space vehicles.

The political scientists tell the public what should be done to serve them better, more responsibly and more economically, but the legislators are closely allied with the local public officials affected and so are the political parties, because they are its leaders, and so change becomes abhorrent.

Michigan has never resolved the problem of the county sheriff since it created the State Police. Home rule would help this process and many others. But it's not to be until there's a better act than the one just enacted and signed by Governor Romney.

County boards of supervisors are apt to continue needlessly large because they don't like to vote themselves out of office and the people find the initiatory referendum a difficult process in an apathetic situation.

The new act permits any of Michigan's 83 counties to adopt a home rule charter like those offered the cities in the early 1900s. The board of supervisors or 5 per cent of the voters in a county may petition for an election on creation of a charter commission from equal population districts. If the resulting charter is approved by the voters it allows the county to elect a board of supervisors—from equal population districts—limited to 5 to 21 members in counties under 600,000 population and 5 to 35 in Wayne.

The sheriff, prosecutor, clerk, treasurer and register of deeds would be elected and the road commissioners would be elected or appointed.

Finding The Way

Need: Truer Brotherhood

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

A seemingly endless stream of projects was loosed into the world by Pope John's decision to call an ecumenical congress. Ecumenical dialogues, theological exchanges, popular meetings and numerous books have been set free as though only waiting for one imaginative man to raise the barriers in order for them to run into the places of action. With such a numerous company there is a diversity of quality. But it's not mediocrity and it's exciting.

Among the notable projects in a series of 50 volumes, published by the Paulist Press under the title of "Concilium." Each volume is a collection of essays by brilliant Catholic theologians, studying aspects of the most interesting of these volumes, thus far published is one which is disarmingly entitled "Do We Know the Others?"

Edited by the famous theologian Hans Kung of Tübingen, Germany it suggests that even in this time we do not know each other. Says this Roman Catholic of his fellow-Protestants:

"They are our brethren, even though they differ from us in many ways. Diversity is often more fruitful than unity in mediocrity. We should be particularly concerned about this because, for all their weaknesses and the one-sidedness from which they, too, obviously suffer, there are many things they do better as Christians than we. We notice this as soon as we begin to know them. It then begins to dawn

QUIT FOOLING

As I enjoy this Sunday, July 10, watering my garden and lawn, with this wonderful heat, reminding me of the old days of the good old summer-time, a note of sadness is introduced by a siren. The whistle and the sound of the boop, boop, boop (that is the third time I heard it today) tells me that it is not the Fire Department nor the Police Department but the ambulance.

The first two are bad enough but the third is worse. Everybody is trying to place the blame for the killings, the injuries and the wrecks. Most of them end up blaming the driver, but he is not the real culprit.

If you drive from Escanaba to Bark River, you will find there are unpleasant entrances to the main highway from every kind of imaginable side road, garage, woodshed, shacker and what-have-you. It seems nobody has heard of secondary roads with one entrance traffic—lighted here and there.

IF YOU SHOULD drive from Escanaba to St. Ignace in this tourist season you will notice that the traffic is almost as heavy as that going into Detroit at the busy hours, yet we have no divided highway and will have none, even as far as from Gladstone to Rapid River, at the intersection of US-2-41, until 1970, because we haven't the funds in Michigan. I have written to the non-political highway commission and to Governor Romney and they have informed me they don't have the funds. Could it be that lives are less important than money?

Let's quit fooling around and let's quit blaming the culprit driver and blame the statesmen, the politicians, maybe the hospital owners, the car makers, who have had to be checked because of the lack of interest in safety equipment, the owners of wrecking equipment, the road builders who don't have the money to make divided highways and also do not seem to know about secondary roads, and allow entrance to them.

All of this is done in order that the ideal of studying the Gospel together might be achieved instead of searching out each other's deficiencies and demands fulfillment.

With this stated, the various authors set forth their fresh understanding of Luther, Calvin and many of the theological movements in the Protestant stream of life today. The book includes essays from several Protestant theologians concerning the recent Papal Encyclical on the Lord's Supper.

One of the dangers that comes with such understanding is that there is a mood of "so what." Men are tempted to treat history and experience as though it has no meaning. It is in really understanding each other in depth, not in sentimentalizing one another, that we grow in faith.

This is why it is of such importance that theology be discussed in newspapers as well as in pulpits, over the coffee cups instead of just in the formal meetings, and in the living room dialogues as well as in the theologian's study. There is a hunger to know, to learn and to understand and it ought not to be distorted by a diet of tidbits or hors d'oeuvres. We do need to know each other in order that we can study and pray and tackle life's urgent demands together. Once that was just an ideal; now it is

For other guests, the "life-of-the-party" jerk brings the death of enjoyment.

Proposed changes in the NATO treaty absorb him. But it doesn't stop there. He told a visitor to his suite: "The other day the Spanish ambassador spoke to me about revising the Treaty of Utrecht."

That's the pact which ended the War of the Spanish Succession, sometimes called Queen frances to the main highway as close as 50 feet apart, who allow parking in the middle of the highway to make a left turn, while they won't even let you park on the side of the highway.

LET'S QUIT making believe. You all know it—car makers, doctors, hospitals, ambulance people, insurers, road makers, politicians, and the National Safety Council, who predict the kill over the holidays, and that seems to be all they do and then forget about it. If you want to make it safe let's go to bat. That's the only way that it can be done.

George O. Erdman
1529 N. 16th St.

P. S. Is it possible that this National Safety Council, composed mainly of older men, have lived so long that after they make their predictions of the various holiday kills, they go back to bed because they fear our unsafe highways and traffic rules?

WHY NOT WOMEN?

I would like to know the rules and regulations of the U. P. Racing Association. I thought the flagman's decision was the decision of all the officials such as timekeeper or timer, etc.

Every stock driver has the option to race the type of car he wishes. When a driver registers his car, he states whether it is stock, modified or super-modified. This particular driver was suspended under the wrong division. Then why all the excuses that were announced?

I'm a woman and know my cars. Do over-size tires, locked rear-ends, big 300-plus cubic inch motors race against small stock motors?

That isn't stock anymore to me. Maybe to you it would be. Why can't it be big motor against big motor, small motor against small motor. Strictly stock all the way.

It doesn't take much of a driver to beat the small cars. I go down to the pits often and look over the stocks, and there aren't too many. Actually there are a few flat head motors and late model Fords.

Can women join the Racing Association and drive their own stock cars? Perhaps they might show the men a few tricks! A restart is very unusual, but if you see fit, it does happen. Why don't you get on the ball and get facilities to clear the track?

The deal was pulled on Ennis Boegh, Green Bay, Glen Rietz, Wrightstown and others involved from Wisconsin at that time.

I've been a racing fan for 20 years and follow it closely. I drive my own stock and that's the racing sport. I always pay my own way in.

Ann Landers

Most Of Us Are Near Enough To The Edge

Dear Ann Landers: I was visiting a friend in a mental institution last weekend and suddenly I realized that but for the grace of God I could have been a patient instead of a visitor.

Few of us realize how close we are to the deep end.

My parents were divorced. My mother ignored me. She heaped all her love and affection on my brother. I was not permitted to have a thought of my own or a pair of shoes of my own. My sisters ran roughshod over me and all my possessions.

Mother had a way of making me feel guilty and stupid. If ever a person was a candidate for a mental institution I was. But somehow I escaped. I know now it was the kindness of warm-hearted teachers and some wonderfully wise friends that saved my sanity.

My plea to your readers is this: Be that one person each day who shows a small kindness to someone near you. You don't know what a smile or a kind word or an act of consideration will do for some miserable soul. It may keep him from giving up.—LUCKY ME

Dear You: Thank you for reminding us that we all need love and acceptance. Too often we forget. A smile, or a word of support and encouragement, costs nothing but it can enrich the life of the person you least suspect needs it.

Dear Ann Landers: In behalf of all ignorant, foolish husbands I want to apologize to all the housewives in America. I, too, used to think that just because a woman had a dishwasher, a vacuum cleaner, and a washer-dryer that she could sit around half the day, drinking coffee with the neighbors and looking at daytime TV.

Due to a serious illness I have been partially disabled since December, 1965. My wife went to work to help support the family. (We have five children, four in school and one pre-schooler.) I TRIED to keep house.

This is what my life was like until May 16th when thank God I was able to go back to work. I got up at 7:00 A.M. and saw that kids were dressed right, gave them a good breakfast and got them off to school. Then I dressed the 4-year-old for play and put him in the back yard.

I loaded the dishes in the dish washer, loaded the washing machine with clothes, started to pick up the house, and made the beds. Next I vacuumed and dusted, unloaded the dishwasher and took the clothes out of the machine.

By that time the kids were due home for lunch so I fixed sandwiches and soup. The kids came home, I gave them lunch, put the 4-year-old in bed for his nap, cleaned up the kitchen, finished the housecleaning got the 4-year-old up, took him along while I did the grocery marketing and other household errands.

About 5:00 P.M. I started supper and set the table. At 5:30 I got into the car to get Mommy at work. She didn't ask "What did you do all day?" She knew, because SHE had done it for several years.

If every husband had to keep house for just one week he would never again joke about what a soft life she has. I say "God bless all housewives everywhere." — B.H., CARY ILLINOIS

Dear B.H.: Housewives everywhere will bless YOU for your letter. But I have a question, Bub. Why didn't you go back to your job weeks earlier? It would have been easier, wouldn't it?

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion Notes

Cure Face Blemishes
Adolescents whose facial blemishes are "raw" can use medicated make-up. Always cleanse the face thoroughly with a medicated soap and remove final traces of cosmetics with soft cosmetic puffs dipped in an astringent. Use a clean puff. An additional guard against further infection is to cover the open sores with sheer patch bandages. This protects them from being picked at by nervous fingers.

Birthday Party Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Birthday parties are so important to the young that every loving mother needs to have a few tricks up her sleeve to make the party table pretty and amusing.

Attractive paper plates, cups and place mats can be bought, but what about place cards and favors? That's where you may get stymied.

One of the gayest homemade favors we've come on is Kitty Cats. These are nothing but "kittens" concocted from apples or popcorn balls and aluminum foil. Here are the directions:

KITTY CATS

Tear off a 10-inch piece of 18-inch wide super-strength aluminum foil and place on a table. Put two small apples or popcorn balls, about 3 inches apart, along the edge of the foil sheet. (If you use apples place them on their sides.) Bring up the edge of the foil and roll the apples or popcorn balls in the sheet of foil. Crush loosely around the two shapes, crushing the foil between to make a neck. Crush the remainder of the foil into pointed ears at the top and a long, curved tail at the bottom. Glue on eyelashes of felt, construction paper, or masking tape; add a gumdrop for a nose (moisten one end of candy, and it will stick to foil), and tie a bright ribbon bow around the neck. For an extra touch you might perch a tiny bit of artificial flower on top of kitty's head. If you're using her for a place card prop the card with child's name against the tip of her tail.

Here's a recipe for popcorn balls in case you plan to use them for the Kitty Cats.

OLD-FASHIONED POPCORN BALLS

- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 quarts unsalted popped corn

In a medium saucepan stir together the brown sugar, syrup, water and vinegar. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Continue cooking, stirring frequently, to 260 degrees on a candy thermometer, or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat; quickly add butter, blend. Pour slowly over popped corn in a large bowl, mixing well while pouring. Form into balls, using as little pressure as possible. Makes 15 popcorn balls, 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

The queen will be announced and parents of the queen and her court will be guests of the Post. Linda Shiverski and Edward Palka who attended Girls and Boys State in June will also give reports. Their parents will also be guests. Mrs. John Krause reported on the Upper Peninsula American Legion Convention held in Menominee, June 17-19. Mrs. Hector Larson won the attendance award. Lunch was served by Mrs. Edward Motto, Mrs. Ray Meyers and Mrs. Robert LaVigne.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleis Dahl and Mr. Harlan Dahl of Detroit are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dahl this week.

with Ray Crandall

They call baseball the national sport in this country, and they could be right . . . But we don't believe it . . . We'll take football any day . . . Or night.

Professional football is the No. 1 spectator sport in our book while baseball ranks a few steps down the ladder. The pro football people have tailored their sport for the spectator . . . They have captured millions of new fans through the medium of television in the last decade . . . Bert Bell, the former NFL commissioner, knew the value of exposing pro football games outside the playing cities and the dangers of allowing games to be televised in the host towns . . . He set up the league's television policies with an iron hand and they've paid fabulous dividends.

The game of football itself is a magnetic attraction . . . Rules are designed to provide fans with maximum action and the violent contact grips spectator interest . . . When pro football people find a way to make their game more thrilling, more available and more understandable to the average fan, they make sure the changes are made immediately.

Baseball, on the other hand, operates as if it were still in the dark ages . . . Major league club owners act as if they are doing us a favor by letting us watch their teams . . . With the exception of Charles Finley, Kansas City Athletics owner, they wouldn't dream of trying to make the game more appealing for the peasants who pay the freight.

The latest fiasco was the All-Star game played in St. Louis this week . . . With the temperature soaring well over the 100 mark it was pure torture for both players and spectators as the game dragged to its extra inning conclusion . . . Can anyone possibly explain why the All Star game isn't played at night under the lights? . . . Just think of the millions of people who could view the game on television if it were played at night instead of in daytime. Wouldn't it make sense for baseball people to put their second biggest spectacular, second only to the World Series, on display for the millions of nighttime viewers?

Consider the game of baseball itself . . . Major league club owners and their hired officials stubbornly refuse to change the rules that were written almost a century ago . . . If new rules are drawn to speed up the action, players and umpires deliberately ignore them — with the blessings of the top brass . . . It's a wonder to us that the modern generation has the time and patience to put up with the slow motion pace of major league baseball.

The old song runs "Take me out to the ball game," but you can change the lyrics for this observer . . . We'll see you at the football gridirons instead.

Pitcher's Place On The Mound? Not For Wilson

By The Associated Press
Who says a pitcher's place is on the mound? Not Earl Wilson. Six hurlers performed for the Detroit Tigers Friday during their 8-5 victory over Baltimore, but only five were to be found in their normal environs in the center of the diamond.

The sixth, Wilson, made his contribution at the plate with a pinch-hit three-run, 13th-inning, two-out (that about covers it) home run.

Bill Monbouquette, who worked the four final innings, perfectly, got the victory, while Stu Miller, who was the last of the mere three pitchers Monbouquette used, took the loss. Monbouquette's performance had the added dimension of his twice having faced both Frank and Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell without a mistake.

It was the American League leading Orioles' fourth loss in a row and their second straight to the Tigers who have climbed to within six games of first place. Don Wert sent the game into overtime with a two-run single with two outs in the ninth.

In other American League games, Minnesota edged Washington 5-4, Kansas City came from behind to get New York 5-4, Chicago beat Cleveland 4-2 and California nudged Boston 4-2.

Wilson, who like Monbouquette came to Detroit from Boston, added to his modest reputation as a hitter. The home run was his third for the year and he has 10 runs batted in as well as a batting average .280, that many full-time hitters might envy.

Minnesota's Don Mincher broke open a tie ball game with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning after two were out. Harmon Killebrew, who had singled, scored the decisive run.

Danny Cater's two-run double in the eighth gave Kansas City the runs they needed after New York had scored a pair of unearned runs in the sixth. In the ninth, the A's went into a zany four-outfielder defense that may or may not have meant something. At least the Yanks didn't score.

LeBrasseur stated that a 1-stroke penalty rule will be in effect to speed up play.

Included in one foursome will be Jerry Martin, Al Martin and Dave Friets, all former champions.

Metropolitan Hotel will play at Marquette Prison on Sunday, July 24.

Esky Babe Ruth Stars Bow, 1-0, In Tourney Tilt

BESSEMER—The Escanaba Babe Ruth All Star team lost a heartbreaker in their first Upper Peninsula District tournament start here Friday, bowing by a 1-0 margin to the host, Bessemer team in a 14 inning classic.

The game, which had a capacity crowd rooted to stadium seats until the final out, is believed to be the longest district tournament contest in Babe Ruth history, Bessemer tournament officials stated.

Players of the two teams put on a spectacular performance to kick off the Upper Peninsula tournament. The teams played flawless ball in the field without an error on either side.

Manager Pete Ross got a brilliant pitching performance from his ace hurlers, Peter Ross Jr. and Warren Nye. Ross won the first eight innings and Nye the last six. Between them they limited Bessemer to three hits and fired the third strike past 19 enemy batsmen.

Escanaba outbatted Bessemer by a 5 to 3 margin. The winners also used two pitchers in the marathon battle and they claimed 16 strikeouts.

Greg Johnson, Escanaba catcher, was the leading hitter in the game with two safeties.

Regular season games will resume in the Escanaba league next week, the final week of the regular campaign. The annual city championship tournament will be played the following week.

Next week's schedule:
Monday—Bankers at Insurance.

Tuesday—Mead at Kiwanis.

Wednesday—Teamsters at Harnischfeger.

Thursday—Mead at Bankers.

Saturday—Harnischfeger at Bankers at 10, Teamsters at Insurance at 3.

Tigers Tip Baltimore On Homer In 13th By Wilson

DETROIT (AP)—It's still a little early to pass judgement on the trades made by the Detroit Tigers in the past year but a couple of them looked like million dollar deals Friday night.

Bill Monbouquette pitched four flawless innings in relief and Earl Wilson stroked a three-run pinch homer off Stu Miller in the 13th inning in a dramatic 8-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles before 43,647 fans.

"I flashed Wilson the single sign and he crossed me up," an elated Frank Skiff said after watching the Tigers win their

Wells Township Orioles Climb To First Spot

The standing in the beginner's league have undergone a change for the first time since the first week of the season. The Orioles opened the season in fourth place but have maintained a blistering pace the past two weeks winning 9 straight games and vaulting into first place.

In the Junior League the Giants lost a second time this season but hold a firm position in first place.

The feature attraction Thursday evening will be a challenge softball game between the girls (6 to 60) of Soo Hill and the Soo Hill Junior league all stars.

Frank Skiff

second straight since he took over for ailing acting manager Bob Swift.

"But I don't think I'll fine him in a sack," Skiff chirped. Skiff admitted that Wilson was the only player he had left who could go up to pinch-hit.

"I remember him hitting a couple of homers against us and when a pitcher his 18 homers in his career, that's no fluke," Skiff said.

"I had Orlando McFarlane, but he was my lone protection for catcher, infield and outfield," Skiff continued.

Monbouquette, who retired all 12 men he faced—seven of them on flies to the outfield—said he "got away with a couple of bad pitches."

But he was the only Tiger in the clubhouse to slough off his performance. The triumph brought the ex-Boston hurler's record to 5-6.

Wilson, who beat the Orioles earlier this year when he was with Boston with an extra-inning homer, said he hit a low curve.

"I've hit some pretty big homers before—including one in the no-hitter I pitched," Wilson said. "But for the importance of a homer I've hit, this one has to be the biggest."

The triumph cut Baltimore's league lead to six games over the second-place Tigers.

John Powell snapped a 3-3 tie with a solo homer in the fifth inning and Dave Johnson singled home the fifth. Baltimore run in the eighth, following a pair of walks.

The Tigers tied the score in the ninth on Don Wert's two-out, two-run single. Willie Horton was hit by an Eddie Fisher pitch to start the inning and Gates Brown hit a pinch-double after the next two men had been retired.

Wert, batting 436 against the Orioles this season, said he hit "a knuckle ball that didn't have too much on it."

The Tigers scored two runs in the first inning on a walk to Wert, a double by Al Kaline and a triple by Jim Northrup when the ball fell safely after Oriole center fielder Russ Snyder lost sight of it.

"We have a lot of trouble with high flies like the one Northrup hit in our own park," Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer said. "The ball gets up over the stands into the twilight and you can't see it."

A balk by Detroit starter Dave Wickham forced Brooks Robinson home with the first Baltimore run in the second inning. Robinson had doubled and gone to third on an infield grounder.

A couple of walks and singles by Johnson and Eliechbarren pushed the Orioles in front in the fourth. The Tigers tied it in the fifth on a walk to Kaline and Northrup's double.

The Upper Peninsula Women's Class D softball tournament will be staged in Iron Mountain Aug. 5-7 with the winner advancing to state competition at Traverse City . . . Teams may register with the U.P. Softball Association through Mario Pietrantonio, Iron Mountain, or Keith Morin of Escanaba . . . Rosters must be sent to Carl Lemm, Kingsford, and tournament director is Richard Brown, Iron Mountain, Community School Office . . . Drawings for the tourney will be held Wednesday, July 27.

Larry Tiziani of Ironwood will not be able to defend his Gogebic Country Club Short-stop tournament championship this weekend . . . The youthful golf star, son of Gogebic pro Caesar Tiziani, is competing in the current Trans-Mississippi professional tournament . . . Larry and his brother, Dennis, have alternated as Gogebic tourney champions for the past five years.

Charles Luchessi, Hancock native and four-year varsity football letterman at Michigan Tech in Houghton, has been cut from the early training camp of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League . . . Luchessi was a 6 foot, 220 pound tackle at Tech last fall.

Wally Schultz and Paul Meunier, both former Escanaba High School athletes, saw action for the losers in the Wishigan League all star baseball game at Menominee this week . . . Schultz is a pitcher and Meunier a catcher for Stephenson of the Michigan division . . .

when won the U.P. crown in 1962, Lois Levine of Ishpeming who is a four time title winner, and Alma Myers of Soo who copped the championship in 1963.

Credit Union of Iron Mountain has stamped itself as one of the top softball teams in the Upper Peninsula this season . . . Bill Uren and Carl Lemm teamed up on the Credit Union mound in a 6-3 verdict over Jacob's Motors this week, extending the team's second half league victory string to six games . . . Closest challenger is C & R Bar with a 3-2 record.

Veteran righthander Gerry Synett fashioned his sixth straight mound victory for the Sault Merchants this week, firing a two-hitter in a 17-0 trouncing of the Coast Guard team . . . The Merchants lead the Sault League with an 11-1 record.

The 40th annual Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Association championship tournament will be staged July 18-21 at the Wagonwheel Club in Ishpeming with a field of over 100 expected . . . Defending champion is Linda Uren of Iron Mountain who also won the title in 1964 . . . Other ex-champions expected in the large field are Rosemary LeMire of Escanaba

The Wisconsin stars won the annual game, 4-2.

You've heard of birdies and eagles on the golf course, but the Michigan Tech club on Portage Lake has another non-human entry for the book. A slinky fox has been grabbing errant golf balls from the edges of the fairways and roughs and dashing out of sight with them. Verdix Cox, course manager, is searching for the animal's hiding place.

MANISTIQUE

GREAT LAKES Gas Transmission Co. is stockpiling 157 miles of 36-inch pipe as it prepares to start construction of the first section of the Canadian-American project in the Lower Peninsula. At Mt. Pleasant, above, 12 miles of the huge, 40-foot lengths are laid out along a railroad siding north of the city.

Theater Provides Experience For Top Name Actors

At least three top performers in the nation's show business had their start in the Pittsburgh Little Theater. Faye Parker, owner here for the summer series of plays in Manistique, said Friday.

Bert Harris, known as Anthony Harris, had his start there and now is playing opposite Rod Steiger in an important role.

Gene Kelly began with the children's theater 33 years ago, when it was owned by Grace Price.

And the little girl, Pamela Murphy in the Peyton Place TV series was in the cast of Maggie's Magic Teapot there.

The company of 12 here which presents live shows every night except Monday at 8:30 in Men auditorium has been joined by two local performers, Raymond Schmidt and Diane Beaudre in performances.

Phil Denman of Manistique also has been assisting as stage manager.

The group currently is presenting "Young Ben Franklin."

Woman, 70, Is Skillful Driver

A 70-year-old Birmingham, Mich., woman enroute to visit in Escanaba amazed Manistique State Police officers with her skillful driving when she had a blow-out Friday afternoon.

Officers said a new tire on a rear wheel blew out. She drove her small 1961 car between two fair-sized trees in front of a restaurant five miles east of Manistique, and the guidance was so good that only the door handles on the car were damaged as it squeezed between the trees. Mrs. Guest was unhurt. The car was brought to a stop on the restaurant driveway.

Gooneybirds Take Baseball Lead

In Pee Wee baseball, Gooneybirds have taken a 4-0 lead in standing.

Results were: Gooneybirds 12, Bluebirds 3; Jailbirds 12, Bluejays 11; Bluebirds 13, Bluejays 8; and Gooneybirds 23, Jailbirds 5.

New Day Bus Service Added

An extra day bus run has been established in Upper Michigan by Greyhound lines. It leaves Manistique at 9:20 a.m. and arrives in St. Ignace at 11:20 a.m. and in Detroit at 10:30 p.m.

Westerly, it leaves at 7:30 p.m. The other bus run, leaving eastbound at 2:20 a.m. and westbound at 11:45 p.m. continues.

Pipe Assembled For New Great Lakes Gas Line

Construction of the first section of the proposed new Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. natural gas pipeline -- from the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, to the international border at St. Clair in 1967.

The entire project will cost $212 million and deliver Canadian natural gas from western Canada to eastern Canada, with Michigan Consolidated and its affiliate purchasing 170 million cubic feet of gas a day in Michigan and Wisconsin.

The Federal Power Commission has completed hearings on the project and briefs are now in the process of being filed. A decision is expected by mid-fall, in time to permit construction before cold weather.

Holstead said Great Lakes was compelled to proceed with acquiring right-of-way, purchase and stockpiling of pipe "so we can get the project underway just as soon as it is authorized. Eastern Canada requires this additional gas," he said, "and every day we can work before real cold weather arrives will speed the project."

Tiny Plane Flies At County Airport

The smallest plane to fly over the Schoolcraft County airport had its day Wednesday with a demonstration by Clifford Peterson of Chicago.

Measuring 6 feet from wing tip to wing tip, the little plane and state craft zoomed over the field, making high climbs, dives, turns and spins at 65 mph. At one time it climbed more than 700 feet and landed Peterson said it could go a thousand.

There was no pilot in the plane. Now, would it fit in it. The plane is a model constructed by Peterson, a member of the Chicago Radio Plane Club. It is operated by a radio-controlled mechanism and powered by a glow cylinder internal combustion engine which burns alcohol and castor oil.

Peterson, whose sister is the wife of Phil Villeneuve of Manistique, in 1928 flew Waco 9s and Travelers and quit flying when the depression came. Fifteen years ago through his son, then a 7th grader, he became interested in model aircraft. Now his grandson, Jim Borgelt, 10, works with him. They participate in national and local competitions.

Peterson said he connected with the national competition in Chicago, Ill., last year. He said he had a total of 1,000 to 2,000 model plane entries are expected.

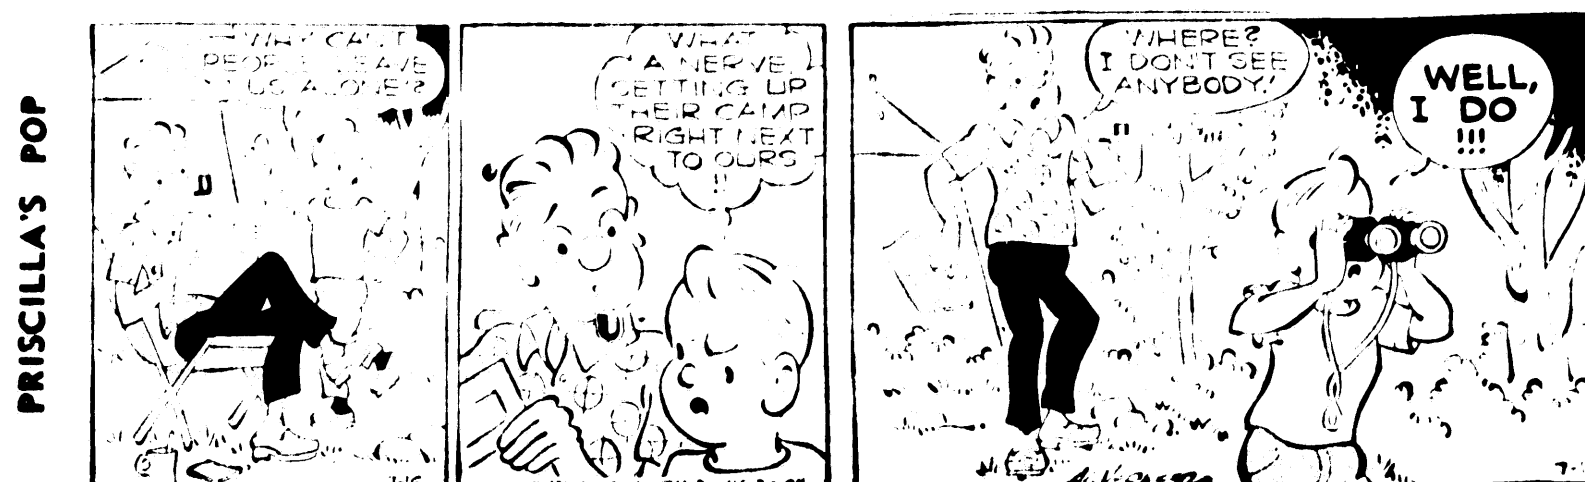

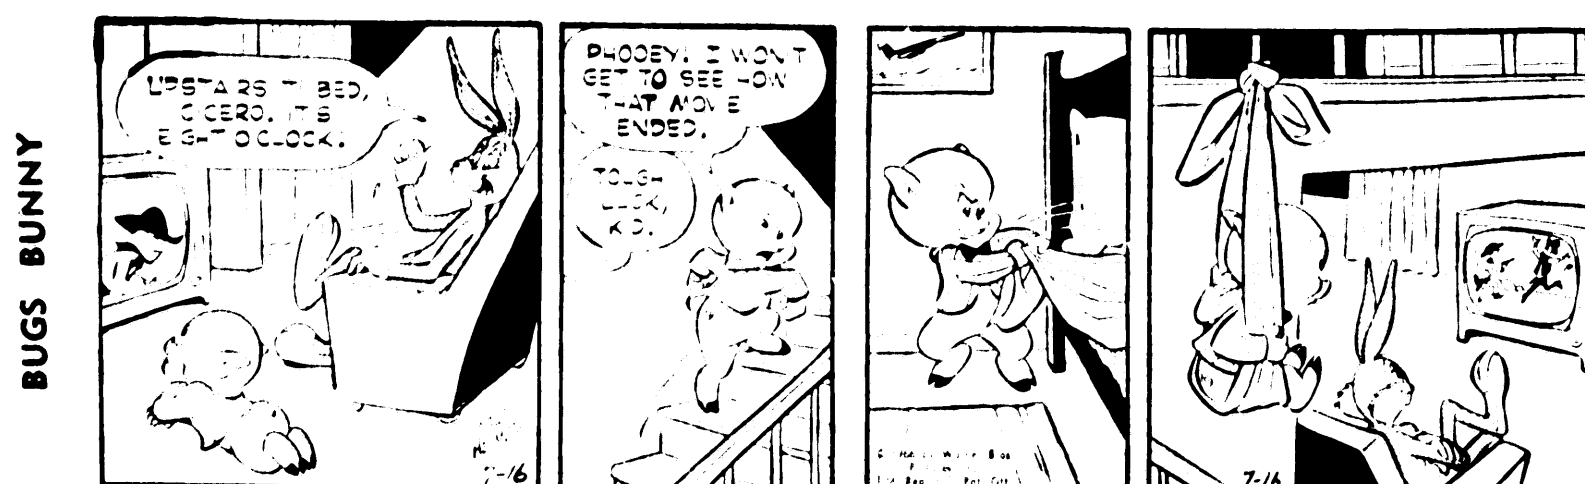

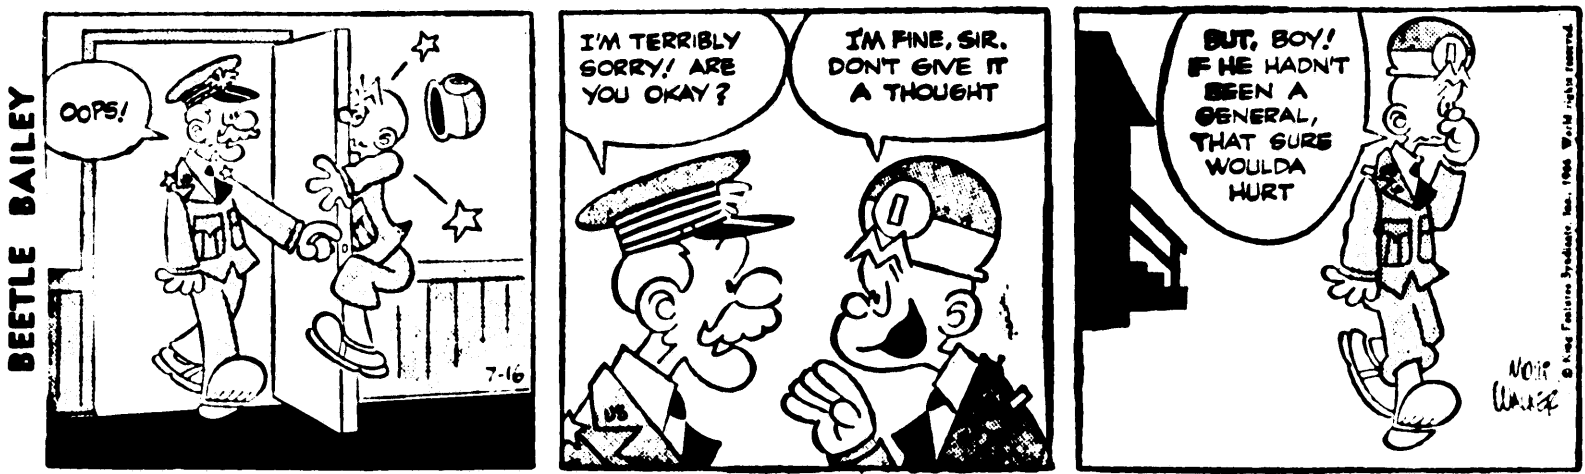

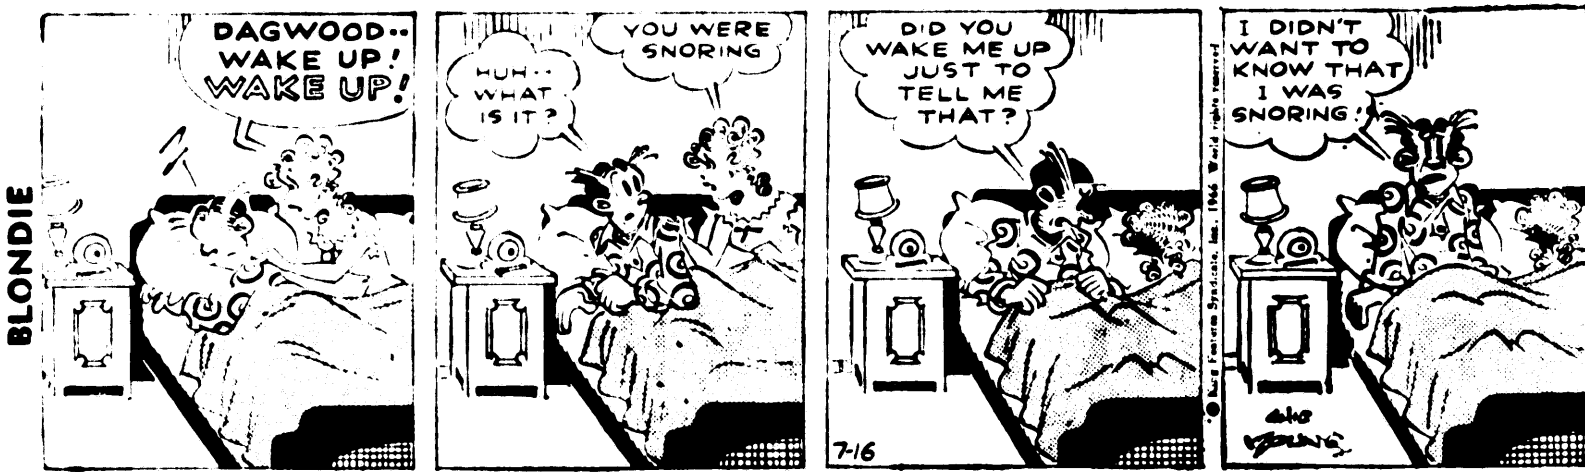

The plane is a flex Waco, while flying with the Villeneuve, weighed 1 1/2 pounds. Its tiny motor cost $4 and was so small Villeneuve chuckled, "It looks like a park plug."

Six servos are in the tail a wood body, with a decoder for the transmission by the operator from a radio unit operating on the citizens band.

About 600 persons fly the plane in Chicago, which has four fields in the Cook County forest preserve for the flyers.

GLADSTONE

Store Is Moved, Nothing Broken

A familiar landmark on M-35 at Brampton, Beauchamp's General Store, has been skillfully set back 50-feet into the woods to make way for the widening of M-35 now under construction.

Paul Beauchamp, proprietor, said he was forced to secure the services of Berg & Henn, Inc., Appleton, Wis., as the building, which measures 50 by 120 feet, was to large to be handled by local moving equipment.

It took the movers two and a half weeks to prepare for the move but the actual moving took only three hours. Beauchamp said not a single article of merchandise in the store, or their living quarters above the store, was damaged. Even bottles and dishes remained on the shelves.

Beauchamp said several large trees had to be removed to make room for the building.

Briefly Told

State Police of the Gladstone post are investigating a report from Russell Nelson, aRk River Rte. 1, of malicious destruction to his stock car, parked outside the U.P. State Fairgrounds gate.

Traffic violation notices have been issued by Gladstone State Police to Marie Zenner, Welland, Ont., improper overtaking and passing; Thomas J. Petr, 1615 Dakota, Gladstone, speeding; Gail J. Bizeau, 123 4th Ave. N., Gladstone, no registration plates; and to Karen Sundquist, Rapid River, no registration on person.

Dennis Wellman, 24, of Escanaba Rte. 1, suffered minor injuries in a car accident at 6:15 p.m. Friday on U.S. 2-41 in Masonville Township, it is reported by Escanaba police. His car was halted behind another auto waiting to make a turn, and Wellman's car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Neil V. Nygard, 526 Garden Ave., Manistique. State Police said Nygard told them he was blinded by the sun.

Card of Thanks

Stemac

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives who by their acts of kindness in the recent death of our father, grandfather and brother, John J. Stemac Sr. helped to lighten our burden of sorrow. Especially do we thank Magr. LaViolette for his comforting words, the pallbearers, those who loaned cars and the drivers, and the many friends who sent spiritual and floral bouquets, also the Shradaki Funeral Home. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

Cupit Has Hot Putting Blade

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Jacky Cupit has been teasing sports writers with talk about changes in his game which he says are responsible for the 11-under par 131 he carried into the third round of the Minnesota Golf Classic today.

Cupit's success wasn't hard to pinpoint Friday. His putting was brilliant. He hit seven birdie putts, including taps from 25, 22, 18, 15 and 12 feet. Only bogys on No. 1, which he three-putted after missing a two-footer, and on No. 16, where he missed the green, kept him from building a stronger lead.

Gene Littler came the closest to catching Cupit, netting birdies on five straight holes on the front nine. But he slumped back to an even-par 35 on the back nine and finished with a 67 — good for a 36-hole total of 133 and second place.
